ST. PETERSBURG: The Supreme Anarch today appeared leaning on a lamp-post at the intersection of Maxim St. and Giorkey Blvd. In a rousing speech cheered by thousands of Russian serfs, he declared that the province borders of Russia must be changed to allow for greater freedom of movement.

"The provinces of Sevastopol, Ukraina, Moscow, Warsaw, Livonia, St Petersburg, and Finaldn must all have common borders with each other," stated the Supreme Anarch. He displayed a peculiarly twisted map of his proposal.

As cossacks closed in on him, he concluded: "The entropy shall increase" and walked off in a direction perpendicular not only to Maxim St. and Giorkey Blvd., but to the lamp-post as well...

LONDON (Reuters): His Majesty's government announced that a treaty of cordiality has been signed today with the French govt. Rumors of a cash payment of £50,000,000 by the French have been dismissed as vicious lies...

1967 MC press section:

LONDON: Dr. Cavour, the noted scientist, in a press conference, denounced the scientific inaccuracies of the news media in reporting his new discovery, Cavourite. In particular, he cited the misspelling by the Am. Journal MISKATONIC UNIVERSITY of the component DELYSIN as "DELLITHIUM." "Not only did I pronounce the name distinctly," Cavour said, "but I even spelled it out: DEE, EE, ELL, WHY, ESS, EYE, EN--DELYSIN." In a further elaboration, the Doctor said: "The Mad Satirical Monk is obviously loose in Russia*!!! Dr. Cavour plans to take a trip in a capsule filled with the antigravitational substance in the Winter of this year.

KASSEL: His Imperial Majesty Rudolf Leopold I today ordred all books containing the poetry of Stephen Vincent Denet to be burned. "Dey are subffersiff." General Frankfritter ordered advanced units of the Imperial 1st Army into the Ruhr on the orders of the Kaiser. "Here in Kassel ve felt a draft, zo ve vant der door closed."

press section:

LONDON: Last eventide, a solemn procession of cassocked figures, draped in black robe, filed into the Royal Catacombs here. Each night-like member of the robed-procession carried in hand a three-foot candle. Like a flickering snake, the train passed out of view into the misty darkness of the ancient burial site of English Kings. Within the depths of the tomb-lined caverns, the members of the procession reversed their candles and, with the reverberation of an ominous thud, darkness filled the chambers. A small glow could, however, be seen to remain at the northern edge of the great nethax. The figure of Her Aged Majesty, Victoria, was dimly visible, the blackness of her dress broken only by a diamond tiara. The cassocked figures reverently did obeisance. Then did Her Majesty say: "My loyal servants, members of the Order of St. Feghoot all, peace be with you. This solemn convocation of ourselves, England's governing body, we have called for one purpose: to announce the appointment of the Mad Satirical Monk as Prime Minister and Minister for Religious Affairs." A murmur of awe and approval passed through the catacombs. "So be it. Amen and amen. Hail Her Majesty Victoria," chanted the monks in unison, signifying their approval through this ancient ritual. Filing to Her Majesty, each relit his candle from Her own and continued to the outer world, to the midnight sounding of the chimes of Westminster.

LONDON: Rumors have it that the strains of Saint-Saens' Danse Macabre were heard to emanate from Westminster Abbey early this morning in the moments following the witching hour.

Paris (26 March 1901)- Her Imperial Majesty, Lucrezia I, Empress of the French, today invited the members of the English Royal Family to visit Her in Her Capital. "Let us entertain you, said Her Majesty, and We'll have a real good time!"

Paris (26 March 1901)- "On second thought," said Her Majesty, "stay away. You might have something catching." Her Majesty was referring, of course, to the English Disease, known in Austria, time-line 1966AA, as the Russian Disease.

Sevastopol (1966AA) You mean the ailment we caaa "The Bane of the Bordsch!!!"

LONDON (27 March 1901)- Prime Minister and Minister for religious affairs, the Mad Satirical Monk, declined the invitation of the Empress Lucrezia to visit Paris. He noted that the so-called "Russian Disease" of 1966AA is known by that name because of the large number of Russians that have contracted it at the "entertaining" parties of the Empress.

Avignon (3 April 1901) His Holiness, Innocent XVI, father of our beloved Empress, arrived today in the ancient seat of the Papacy, fleeing persecution in the Black Land of Italy. "Mt Etna has burst into flame," His Holiness said, "and fell things grow in Naples; yea, even in Holy Rome herself. And wolves have come nigh unto Venice. But even tso, the Most Christian nation of Hungary knocks at the door of the Black Land. Anathema be unto Italy and all that help that evil nation.

Paris (28 April 1901)- Her Imperial Majesty the Empress Lucrezia appeared today before the Senate and requested that August body to declare war on the nations of England, Germany, and Italy. Her Majesty declared that these nations were France's only neighbors, inhabited by persons of inferior culture and breeding and were therefore deserving of naught but conquest and exploitation. At that, the Members were heard to shout "Yea!!! Let's here it for exploitation!" Her Majesty then presented the Hungarian Ambassador, Dr. Zoltan Karpathy, and the Russian Ambassador, Count Alexi Rothschildov. Afterwards, Her Majesty held private audiences with the ambassadors and several members of the Senate, all of whom had spoken vigorously in favor of the war effort.

"A private audience with her Majesty is always a most rewarding experience," said the Duc du Province afterwards, straightening his hair, "Her Majesty is a most gifted...uh...conversationalist." Meanwhile, rumors of an impending marriage between Her Majesty and a member of the Hungarian Imperial Family are being firmly denied. Said Finance Minister J. Suis LaPlume, "Pourquoi?" The equally persistent rumor that Her Majesty has been seen nightclub-hopping with Tooloose Lautrec are also being denied. Said Information Minister C. LaGuerre, "Of course, we meant the city when we announced that Her Majesty had gone to Toulouse for treatment."

Cherbourg (7 May 1901)- The appearance of a pretender to the English throne the last month has caused considerably excitement in this coastal town. Sir Edmund Mortimer, Earl of Snerd, two weeks ago proclaimed himself Henry IX, King of England, Scotland, Wales, and Ireland. He has since been recognised by the French, Russian, and Hungarian governments. Today the French High Seas Fleet left harbor, bound for England. "We shall overcome," said Grand Admiral Prince Caesare Borgia "And restore Henry IX to His rightful throne" Tremble, England!

LONDON(8 May,1901):The English pretender to the throne whose name has been reported in the English press as 'Sir Edmund Mortimer' is well known to the peoples of England. It seems that the French misspelled his name- it's actually 'Mortimer'. Dr Mortimer is reported to be a protege of Lucresia's...

LONDON(8 May,1901) Archbishop Bailey of Canterbury today heaped scorn upon the claims of "Pope" Innocent of Brighton. "Not only do those Roman heretics have the audacity to claim papal infallibility, but they can't even agree amongst themselves as to whom the real Pope is. Such nonsense. They could all solve their problem by admitting their error and returning to the bosom of the TRUE church that is, the Anglican church. As for the pope always being right, everybody knows that only the Archbishop of Canterbury is always right...

LONDON- It was revealed that "Pope Innocent XIV" is actually an Air Force Inspecting General in exile from Turkey after he failed to rectify the conditions he discovered at TUSLOG Det. 123...

LONDON- The reports recently carried in the press here that Pope "He isn't" had said "everything is relative" were a misrepresentation. Actually, he did not say everything, but everyone...

Rheims(6 May, 1901)- His Holiness Pope Innocent XIV today blessed the members of the Grand Army of the East as they marched against the evil, nasty, unspeakable Germans. "Killas Kraut for Christ!" he cried as they passed His Holiness' drive-in altar. Placards above the cathedral read "France is at war with Germany. France has always been at war with Germany." And "As it was in the past, in the beginning, so shall it always be."

Fall, 1905 orders due on Fri, 24 March, '67!!

I have decided to just play out the position as it was left in Lusitania. Continuing the game means that I send M.U. to two extra people, costing me maybe twelve cents per issue more than otherwise. If any of the contestants wish to face each other afresh in a new 5-position game, they should advise me; I will run a fresh game beginning in Spring, 1901...but only for a new game fee of $2.50 per position, or for a trade position in another magazine. I don't think Conrad von Metzke wants to get into new games; this may pose problems...

Actually, this is the first page of this issue to be typed. MISKATONIC UNIVERSITY is now typed out over the entire week before the Friday night I run the thing off.

Hopefully, this issue will mark the running of the first LUSITANIA game, which has been delayed while a misunderstanding with John McCallum is worked out. I will print the moves, and hope that John's one Italian unit does not remain unordered.

Other replacements are announced: In 1966AR, any number of positions will change hands. Steve Henderson apparently has lost interest in the game—last issue, or rather, last installment, I had independent orders written for the position, and the same went for Ernie Barrillo's Russia. Ernie has apparently dropped out from active Postal Diplomacy play, as he has moved to another of the innumerable Bohemian districts locally (maybe if we made Bohemia a supply center we could attract new players...). So I think Jim Dygert will officially take over Russia in 1966AP. I will ask Dan Brannan to submit orders for France, also, but I won't make the change official, because Dan is already in too many losing games.

Your intrepid pacifist is now working as an inspector in a war plant—I check over accelerometers in all local plant before they are shipped out to be placed in missiles and space probes and suchlike.

Big Brother up there is not, by the way, a likeness of your happy editor, but Charlie Turner's representation of another local gamesman ter master.

Will somebody do me the favor of explaining how the river Entwash forms a delta at its junction with the Great River??? I sit here at my desk, before a huge color rendition of this anomaly, wondering...

I will shortly place Roland in a new game...
